

NORTHERN TRIBUNE.

Entered at the Postoffice at Cheboygan Mich., as Second Class Matter.

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1884.

National Republican Ticket.

For President,
JAMES G. BLAINE, of Maine.For Vice President
JOHN A. LOGAN, of Illinois.

Why Not be an American.

The Republican party was organized because, as its first President said, this continent could not be half free and half slave, and it proposed to make it free. This contest necessarily began its history as the party of a section, and it was only the success of the war which made the Republican the party of the nation.

The last signs of this contest have disappeared, and the party stands upon the broad national platform to which no American can take exception and whose bitterest antagonism comes from abroad and from the sections of this country most intimately connected with England and with English opinion and sentiment. The opposition to Blaine, like the opposition to the like national policy of Jefferson, of Madison and of Monroe, comes exclusively from the states and the section which gave birth to Federalism and in the war of 1812 hoisted a flag of its own in Boston with five stripes instead of thirteen.

The Republican party, standing for an American policy, appeals instead to every man to be an American. It asks nothing more and patriotism will be satisfied with nothing less. It does not present a policy of sections, of race, of nationality; it is tied to no narrow partisanship or bound to no policy of individual interest. Now that free labor exists all over the land, now that the rights of all citizens, be their color or their birth what it may, are recognized both North and South, the personal reasons which in past campaigns excluded some men from the Republican platform are over.

To every citizen, then, the Republican party puts the question in this campaign: "Why not be an American?" A broad American policy is to-day the sum and substance of Republicanism; for American labor it proposes protection. For American citizens, "whose filial instincts and love for kindred may have prompted them to revisit their native country," to quote Mr. Blaine, it insists upon the fullest protection abroad. It intends to see that every American citizen enjoys the freedom to vote as he pleases and the right to have his vote counted as he cast it. It seeks to extend over the continent an American peace which no power shall dare break, and with it and under it to extend American commerce.

Why not be an American and support American policy?

Up to date the present Congress has been in session 223 days and it has done nothing, unless you count their attempt to white wash Fitz John Porter.

SWEDEN has a law that any man who gets drunk three times shall lose the right of suffrage. Oh how such a law in this country would deplete the ranks of the unwashed Democracy.

A LARGE number of prominent Democrats still insist upon the nomination of Tilden regardless of his emphatic withdrawal from the lists. The only possible reason for this is their conviction that with any other candidate they have no hope.

THE sober second thought is getting the better of the Republican bolters. The leaders remain obstinate, but indications multiply that their following will be too small to have any effect upon the Presidential election. The voters see that, after all, the elevation of the Democracy to the control of the National Government would bring with it consequences more to be deplored than the election of any Republican who might be named.

YEARS ago, Gave William Curtis made a trip up the Nile, and wrote a really book thereon, called "Nile Notes of a Howadjil," in which he gave his impressions of the dancing girls and other features of the social system of the Orient which would naturally attract the attention of a young man out on a lark. The impressions of that trip have been lasting. He kicks because he is not allowed to place the Republican party in the position of a harem, with those political eunuchs, the Independents, for guards.

"MODESTY" won the American Derby at Chicago a week ago last Saturday, but will be distanced in the great Democratic race announced to come off this week.

DENNIS KEARNEY is not one of the prominent candidates of the Democratic party, a good illustration of the base ingratitude and forgetfulness of political parties.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS says General Logan has an excess of brains over grammar, good, but what troubles the great George William he has an excess of grammar over brains.

HON. ROBT. R. BISHOP, Republican candidate for governor of Mass. in 1882, and an Edmunds delegate to Chicago, has been claimed as one of the bolters. Mr. Bishop denies the truth of the statement and says he shall do all in his power to aid in the election of Blaine.

THE Courier Journal asks what American of this generation will in the mind of the historian typify the national characteristics of the American people. We answer: It is plain that James G. Blaine is the name, who goes from Maine to the White House. Do you know him Mr. Watterson.

A GREAT many railway, bank, steamship and other stocks, seem to be poor property just now, but the stock to be put on the market next week in Chicago with dividends to begin after election will cause many a man hungry after a postoffice or some other public job to sink time, money and peace of mind, whose only dividends will be disappointment.

SOME of the Democratic papers are advocating Randall and Morrison as the ticket to win. Would't that be a good one. That would undo all former efforts. That would be a straddle on the tariff question unparalleled in the history of even the Democratic party which is the greatest combination and aggregations of straddle ever known on earth, or any where else. Yes, lets have Randall and Morrison.

THE trouble over the succession to the throne of Holland is to be settled by a convocation of a general State Council to declare the little Princess Wilhelmine heir to the throne, with the Queen as Regent during her minority, in the event of the death of the aged King. Germany has given assurances that she has no aspirations to annex the Netherlands to the German Empire.

MR. GLADSTONE has not only successfully turned the Egyptian difficulty, but he has thoroughly alarmed the Lords by his blunt declaration that if they throw out the Franchise bill, it may be necessary to throw out them. Whatever is done by them, the prospect is almost certain that he will take the Liberal party into the next election with the odds all in his favor—a most unexpected result.

ENGLAND is preparing to back out of her quasi-partnership with Portugal in Congo, in part because Stanley is fast carving a state of his own in the interior and in part because all Europe protests against a treaty which sought to make a closed sea of the great stretch of water navigation on the Congo by the simple expedient of giving Portugal the gate and letting Great Britain carry the key.

THE cholera epidemic in France has its serious side in the circumstance that the pestilence has taken another annual march nearer the United States. Two or three summers ago it was in India and the Red Sea; last year it was in Egypt and this year it appears in an European port, but one on the Mediterranean. According to precedent another summer will be needed to carry it over the Atlantic, and the real danger to this country will not begin until then, or a year later.

MR. THEODORE LYMAN, the great Boston kicker, objects to the Republican ticket because Logan is illiterate. Illiterate, indeed, Didn't he go from diet school to the capital of Illinois, thence to Congress, then to the army leading a thousand of Illinois best blood. In a year a Brigadier-General. In two years a major-General. In three years commanding the great grand army of the Tennessees, as fine an army as ever battled for the cause of Liberty and the rights of humanity. And in all these great trusts has he ever proved recreant? No, not once. Ever honest, true, kind and brave. But this Boston dude says he is illiterate. Great heavens, we may expect soon to hear that Boston has renounced christianity because the Saviour did not wear a silk hat, spike-toed shoes, carry a cane, and live on a diet of baked beans.

SOMEBODY'S SISTERS.

This is the time of year when the pretty picnic girl with the trim ankle and neat boots calls out "Snake!"

Never mind what the paragraphers say; stick to your planos, girls. A Chicago woman fell dead over the wash-tub, on Tuesday.

Vassar College girls eat 2,700 pancakes at one meal. But if 2,700 Vassar College girls should try to make a pancake they would fail.

"My Daughter Paints" is the title of a new novel. And she probably powders, but it is a mighty mean man who would thus give the girl away.

Girls, learn to swim. It accustoms you to kick out, and after marriage it is sometimes necessary to use more than the hands in fighting.

A Virginia girl asks "Why do girls marry?" Probably it is because they are afraid they won't get a chance if they wait until they become women.

Some people have much quicker perceptions than others, but most any ordinary person can tell what evening a girl expects her beau by the way she fixes her hair.

There is a young girl in Chicago who has such beautiful pearly teeth that her mother took them out, strung them, and wore them as a necklace at an evening party.

A Chicago girl left her slipper at a newspaper office in that City by mistake, and the nasty, mean reporters mounted it on wheels and took a ride out into the suburbs.

A number of the Vassar girls have been made bachelors of art. None of the other girls, however, want to wait with them. They say their cheeks and chins are too smooth.

A Louisville young man has been fined $2 for kissing a girl. If she was a Louisville girl he could have escaped the fine on a plea of insanity. Philadelphia Call. You mean, of course, that Louisville girls are so sweet that they drive a young man to insanity, do you? O, now!

This is the season when the men have their hair cut so short that their wives can use the top of hubby's head for nutmeg graters.

Wives are presumptuous creatures. They always ask for a look of their lover's hair before marriage, and take it without asking afterwards.

A Chicago woman is suing for a divorce from two husbands at the same time. She finds it impossible to boss around any more than four with any degree of success.
